

ANGAD SINGH

GRADE- 2.

If I could turn into an Ocean animal for one whole day, I would choose to be a Dolphin because dolphins are very playful, as sometimes they swim for hours. Also, they are very fast. So it is easy to run away from predators. I will be swimming around with other sea animals too.

The best thing being a Dolphin will be I don't have to do the homework. In the sea, I can make my very first dolphin friends. If I negotiate and become the king of all the dolphins. I will be unstoppable. Not even thousand men could defeat my army of dolphins.

I am a vegetarian so all I would eat is seaweed. I will teach the other sea creatures to talk, write

read and draw.

When I will be having

an experience of being dolphin,

I will try to make a machine

that will give me powers to switch any animal's brain for a day so that they too

can enjoy like human being. Then

I might try to make a different animal species smarter than ever!

I would be like a professor for the animals so that they won't get fooled by traps and tricks as I train them to become smarter.

To be a dolphin would be so different from people. Swimming and exploring with dolphins would be so much fun!

The End!
